MEDIA INFORMATION

WELCOME to the inaugural season of the United States Football League. The cooperation and coverage the media has offered the Philadelphia Stars since the league's introduction in May of 1982 has been superb. We appreciate your efforts and aims and will assist you in any way possible. The following are some of the services we provide and some of the things we ask of you to help run our operation smoothly.

CREDENTIALS: Certified newspaper, radio and television representatives who do not hold press box credentials for the season should address all requests for working press credentials to Bob Moore, director of media relations, a minimum of one week prior to game time. The Press Gate is located facing the Spectrum on the south side of Veterans Stadium at Gate B, street level, and access to press parking is by way of Broad Street. Credentials are left with an attendant at the Press Gate two hours before kickoff. Requests for press parking should be made to Moore's office at 215-271-7000. Credentials are good for admittance to the stadium, press box and locker rooms.

PRESS BOX: Three press boxes are located on the fourth level of the Stadium. All news media should enter the press gate at Gate B, street level and take the elevator to the fourth floor. We must limit press box seating to members of the media and opposing scouts only when valid Stars press passes are presented. All guests are required to display a pass to the attendant at the door. All seats are labeled by media affiliation. Everyone is required to wear their credential at all times.

SERVICES: Pre-game press notes, flip cards, lineups, statistics and the current program are available in the press box before the game. Play-by-play, quarter, halftime and final cumulatives are delivered directly to the press throughout the game. A "running board" is kept in the press box so that members of the media can keep track of yardage as the game continues. Post game quotes are distributed throughout the media area following the game.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Only accredited working photographers and cameramen are allowed on the sidelines and photo deck at Veterans Stadium. Photographers should take the elevator to the first (field) level where special identifying arm bands are issued near the Southeast corner off the playing field. Space on the fourth level photo deck is extremely limited and available only on a reserved basis. All field photographers must wear a "field photo" credential and stand behind the 12-foot restricted zone. The bench areas are off-limits to all non-playing personnel. The number of sideline passes are limited and requests from working media are the only ones that will be honored. Photographers should take special note of conditions of use listed on the credentials.

RADIO & TV: Network television and visiting radio are assigned to numbered booths between press boxes A and B. Spotters and statisticians are available upon advance request.

LOCKER ROOMS: Locker rooms are open following each game. Writers and reporters are asked to allow coaches time to deliver their customary post-game remarks before entering the locker rooms. Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a work atmosphere in each room. Those newspapers with morning deadlines and TV stations doing live spots should be given preference in obtaining players and coaches. Common courtesy should prevail.

TELEPHONES AND TELECOPIERS: A limited number of pool telephones provided by the Stars are available in the press box. Writers desiring private lines should make their own arrangements with the Bell Telephone representative at 215-466-2163 or 215-271-0010. Telecopier terminal service can be arranged through Jim McGettigan at 215-446-0525 or Don Schwartz at 215-224-3204.

ADDITIONAL SERVICES: Please direct requests for information, photographs and interviews to Bob Moore, director of media relations, Philadelphia Stars, Veterans Stadium, Broad Street and Pattison Avenue, Philadelphia, PA 19148, 215-271-7000. After 7 p.m. and on weekends call (215) 626-1592.

STARS OWNERSHIP

Myles H. Tanenbaum
Managing General Partner

The Philadelphia Stars are owned by a partnership controlled by a trio associated in a variety of other enterprises. The managing general partner is Myles H. Tanenbaum who, with his business associates, Arthur L. Powell and Harold G. Schaeffer, was instrumental in giving birth to the United States Football League. Their combined experience in tying together numerous diverse elements in the development of regional shopping malls has been applied to the unique circumstances of the USFL—holding together twelve separate ownership groups while completing cable and network television contracts, stadium arrangements, the League constitution, twelve independent franchises and other details.

With the birth of the League, the Stars' ownership focused its attention on operations. The owners recruited Carl Peterson to serve as president and general manager—chief executive of the club. Peterson was assigned the authority to run the organization with the responsibility of making it a success. He addressed that challenge in the selection of Jim Mora as head coach and Leo Carlin as business manager, and in his own control of the club's operations.

The decision to place operating responsibility in the hands of professionals with appropriate incentives and support, reflects the owners' business philosophy and creates a mirror image of the development of the Dallas Cowboys.

Tanenbaum's role in the Stars is to address the interests of the owners in regard to the operations of the team. That assignment is only one of his responsibilities as president of Charter Oak Investment Company, a holding company whose principal assets include Kravco, Inc., one of the nation's largest and most prestigious developers and managers of shopping malls and other commercial properties. Charter Oak directs the investment and business affairs of the controlling trio.

Prior to joining Kravco, Tanenbaum was a partner in the Philadelphia law firm of Wolf, Block, Schorr and Solis-Cohen, having specialized in tax work. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School (majoring in accounting and subsequently becoming a certified public accountant) and Law School (graduating with honors and since serving as the secretary-treasurer of the Class of 1957).

Tanenbaum has lectured on a variety of tax and real estate topics at the Wharton School, New York University Tax Institute, various Bar Association continuing education programs, on a wide range of real estate and other industry trade groups, and on various other professional and business organizations. Articles he has authored have been published in several legal journals, and more recently several articles have appeared in industry publications.

Tanenbaum has testified before five congressional committees on topics ranging from tax law to health legislation, and he has served on professional, industry and governmental committees and task forces concerned with legislative matters.

Among his public service contributions are his former role as chairman of the board and treasurer of the American Diabetes Association, his current position as vice chairman of the Likoff Cardiovascular Institute at Hahnemann Hospital and his membership on the Board of Moss Rehabilitation Hospital. He has been active in raising funds for numerous worthwhile community organizations.

Tanenbaum resides with his wife, Roberta, in Bryn Mawr, PA. His four children are Steven (27), Sharon (24), Larry (15) and Nicole (13).

STARS PRESIDENT and General Manager

Carl Peterson

A new and expanded role in a new organization is just another step forward in the rapidly-accelerating career of Philadelphia Stars president and general manager Carl Peterson.

The 39-year-old Peterson comes to the Stars and the United States Football League from the Philadelphia Eagles. Peterson spent six seasons with the Eagles in a variety of on-field and administrative capacities.

He grew up in southern California where he played football at UCLA and earned a doctorate in education in 1970. After a stint as head coach of California State at Sonoma, Peterson joined Pepper Rodgers' staff at UCLA in 1972. He spent four seasons with the Bruins, during which time UCLA compiled an overall record of 15-5-1 and with Dick Vermeil as head coach, defeated Ohio State, 27-10, in the 1976 Rose Bowl.

The following year he came to Philadelphia with Vermeil and, after one year as Vermeil's administrative assistant and tight ends coach, moved into the Eagles' front office as director of player personnel in 1978.

In his present position as the Stars' president and general manager, Peterson's football knowledge, player evaluation talents, and professional contacts will serve him well. One of the most respected front office officials in professional sports, his honesty, judgment, and experience have gained him the trust of both management and players alike. As the man chiefly responsible for the Eagles' scouting and acquisition of talent, Peterson helped Philadelphia make a quick and dramatic rise to the NFL's upper echelon. Bereft of draft choices that had been traded away by previous administrations, Vermeil and Peterson embarked on an extensive free agent program.

Some astute drafting, such as the sixth round selection of running back Wilbert Montgomery, who later became a Pro Bowl player, coupled with the possession of choice draft picks, the Eagles won the NFC championship in 1979 and appeared in Super Bowl XV. It was the Eagles' first championship of any kind since 1960.

Other standouts acquired during Peterson's tenure with the Eagles included draftees Charlie Johnson in 1977, linebacker Reggie Wilkes in 1978, and Jerry Robinson, the NFL rookie of the year in 1979. Others include Petey Perot, Roynell Young, Billy Campfield, Dennis Harrison, Tony Franklin, Max Runager, Leonard Mitchell, and Hubie Oliver; free agents Herman Edwards, Wally Henry, Brenard Wilson, John Spagnola and Greg Brown; and trade additions Claude Humphrey and Leroy Harris.

A demanding schedule continues to mark Peterson's professional life. College scouting assignments, contract talks, League meetings, and the never-ending viewing of pro football games pulls him into the whirlpool of airplanes, meeting rooms, and stadiums.

Carl and his wife Belinda, along with daughter Dawn (13), reside in West Berlin, NJ.

STARS HEAD COACH

Jim Mora

When the Philadelphia Stars found themselves without a coach in the fall of 1982, it didn't take long for club president and general manager Carl Peterson to select a new one.

With twenty-two years of major college and professional coaching experience, 47-year-old Jim Mora was Peterson's choice for the top post at Philadelphia's United States Football League franchise.

Peterson had coached one season with Mora when both were members of Dick Vermeil's staff at UCLA in 1974 and knew the California native's reputation for getting the most out of his players, taking young teams and building them into playoff contenders and bowl champions.

"I think he brings a great deal of professionalism and integrity to our operation," Peterson said at the time of Mora's hiring. "He has tremendous credentials, all the elements I was looking for. He's a teacher. What he did this 1982 season with the New England Patriots was remarkable. He has integrity, class, he has the ability to motivate players. He's been successful at every place he's been."

Indeed he has. Just last year as defensive coordinator at New England whose defense featured five new starters—three of them rookies—in the lineup, Mora claimed the distinction of being the only coach in six years whose NFL team, the 1982 Patriots, recorded consecutive shutout victories. The Patriot defense, twenty-fifth in the NFL two years ago, blanked Miami, 3-0, on December 12 and a week later defeated Seattle, 16-0. The team eventually finished thirteenth in the league's total defense category and recorded twenty sacks. The club also held opponents to less than 100 yards rushing three times in 1982.

Born in Los Angeles, Mora was a three-year standout at Occidental College (CA) teaming up with good friend and quarterback Jack Kemp, late of the Buffalo Bills and current congressman from New York. Mora earned his B.A. in 1957 and later coached his alma mater for six years. After a four-year stay as an assistant, Mora was elevated to the head coaching position in 1964. He later received his M.A. from USC in education.

Occidental teams under Mora racked up eighteen wins and nine losses from 1964 to 1966, catching the eye of Stanford coach John Ralston. Mora went to Stanford in 1967 as linebacker coach and there worked closely with quarterbacks and receiver coach Dick Vermeil.

Mora made another coaching move to the University of Colorado in 1968 and continued his winning ways. As defensive line, linebacker, and secondary coach, he helped Eddie Crowder's Buffalos gain berths in four bowl games. Colorado's 1971 team finished third in the nation behind fellow Big 8 rivals Nebraska and Oklahoma.

As a linebacker coach, Mora was reunited with Vermeil, then a head coach, at UCLA in 1974. At that time he met Carl Peterson and a friendship was born though Peterson eventually followed Vermeil to the Philadelphia Eagles, and Mora took a job as Don James' defensive coordinator at the University of Washington.

"A solid football mind," James says of Mora, "he was one of the first persons I hired when I got the Washington job." James, who had worked with Mora on the Colorado staff, says Mora "was one of the instrumental guys in building our (1978) Rose Bowl champion."

"Besides his ability to teach and his knowledge of the game, he's also got compassion for his players. He's a no-nonsense guy who you can communicate with."

Mora proved his reputation as a "winner" in the college ranks was well deserved when he moved on to professional football and the NFL's young Seattle Seahawks. With the Seahawks, he helped coach Jack Patero's defensive line for four seasons before journeying to New England in 1982 to accept the position as Head Coach Ron Meyer's defensive coordinator.

Now, as he takes over the head coaching reins on his own professional club, Mora faces what may well be his greatest challenge yet. Predictably, he reacts like the solid pro that he is.

"I know it's a tough job," he says, "but I think I can work as hard as anybody in the business and I think I can motivate a staff and a football team. I can get people to play as hard as they can and be disciplined. When I say disciplined, I mean they'll do what they're supposed to do and play with enthusiasm and pride."

Whatever happens, it promises to be a fascinating and entertaining spring season at Veterans Stadium with one of football's most popular and respected persons right where he belongs—on the sidelines as a head coach.

Mora and his wife Connie are the parents of Jim (21), a junior defensive back at the University of Washington, Michael (18), a freshman at the University of Colorado, and Stephen (15), who lives at home.

STARS COACHING STAFF

Jim Erkenbeck

OFFENSIVE LINE

Born 9/10/31, Los Angeles, California
21st Year Coaching
San Diego State

Jim Erkenbeck's twenty-one years in the coaching business have brought him experience in virtually every phase of the game, a worthy background for the offensive line responsibilities he bears with the Stars.

Over his years in the business, the 51-year-old Erkenbeck has logged time at four colleges and three Canadian League teams. He began his career as Don Coryell's offensive line coach at San Diego State in 1961 and later directed Grossmont College, a junior college in southern California, as head coach from 1964-1967.

After stops at Utah State (1968) and Washington State (1969-71), the personable Erkenbeck settled at Cal-Berkeley where he ran the offensive line for Coach Mike White for five years.

He joined the professional ranks as Bud Riley's assistant at Winnipeg in 1977 and went on to spend four seasons at Montreal. He was with Calgary this year before moving to the USFL. During his period in Canada, Erkenbeck was involved with two Grey Cup teams including one Western Division Champion. Starting with Coryell, he has been involved with pass-oriented teams all his career.

He is a 1953 graduate of San Diego State where he starred as an All-Coast player at linebacker and center. He served in the Marine Corps during the Korean Conflict and recently retired as a lieutenant colonel in the reserve.

John Pease

DEFENSIVE LINE

Born 10/14/43, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
16th Year Coaching
Utah

A coaching background at three different colleges, including a five-year stint at the University of Washington where he held the unique distinction of seeing every one of his senior starters go into professional football, prepared John Pease for his assignment with the Stars.

Pease, in his sixteenth year of coaching, handled Washington's defensive line from 1979 until 1982, a period in which the Huskies won three bowl games and accumulated 46 wins in 59 games.

A two-year letterman in college, Pease was a halfback-wingback-linebacker at the University of Utah in 1963 and 1964. He was an All-WAC wingback as a senior and, following graduation, spent a season with the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL.

The Pittsburgh-native got his start in coaching in 1966 at Antilles High School in San Juan, PR and eventually served as a graduate assistant at his alma mater in 1968 and 1969. After a three-year stop at Fullerton (CA) Junior College where he acted as defensive coordinator, Pease joined Coach Wayne Howard's staff at Long Beach State in 1974 and then moved back to Utah when Howard accepted the head job there in 1977. Pease went to Washington in 1978 where he replaced Stars head coach Jim Mora who had resigned to accept a post with the Seattle Seahawks.

Since breaking into the profession, he has coached four first round NFL draft picks.

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/QUARTERBACKS/RECEIVERS

Joe Pendry

Born 8/5/47, Welch, West Virginia
13th Year Coaching
West Virginia

The high level of responsibilities assigned to Joe Pendry—offensive coordinator and quarterbacks and receivers coach—reflects the esteem in which Pendry is held by head coach Jim Mora.

Pendry came to the Stars last summer with an impressive dossier that included positions as offensive coordinator at West Virginia University, Kansas State University, and Michigan State University.

A 1969 graduate of West Virginia, Pendry stayed on with his alma mater coaching the freshmen team and performing other duties from 1970 to 1974. He moved on to Kansas State University in 1975 to serve as offensive coordinator, but returned to West Virginia a year later. He remained there for two seasons and then joined the staff at Pitt in 1978. He helped direct the Panthers to bowl games in 1978 and 1979 while coaching the quarterbacks and offensive line. In 1980, he journeyed to the Big Ten Conference and Michigan State University where he once again held the position of offensive coordinator. His Spartan offensive units piled up points in prodigious quantities and further added to Pendry's reputation as one of college football's most innovative offensive minds.

Pendry, 35, is a native of Oceana, West Virginia. He and his wife Sandi are the parents of two children, Joe (12) and Jill (10).

John Rosenberg

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Born 8/13/45, Washington, DC
13th Year Coaching
Harvard

John Rosenberg comes to the Stars after nine years of coaching perennial powerhouse Penn State, the nation's top-ranked team in 1982.

The 37-year-old Newton, MA native joined the Penn State staff on a full-time basis in 1974 and worked with Joe Paterno's defensive backs. Prior to that time, he worked three years at Penn State while pursuing a master's degree. He previously served four seasons as the Lions' recruiting coordinator and outside linebacker coach.

Rosenberg began his coaching career in 1966 when, as an undergraduate, he helped direct the Harvard freshmen team. He was a part-time assistant at Pitt in 1967-68 before attending Penn State's graduate school.

He was a linebacker on Harvard's 1964, 1965, and 1966 teams and earned a B.S. degree in social psychology in 1967. He received a master's in counseling from Penn State in 1971. Rosenberg was defensive coordinator and recruiting coordinator at Villanova in 1972 and 1973.

Vince Tobin

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR/LINEBACKERS

Born 9/29/43, Burlington Junction, Missouri
16th Year Coaching
Missouri

Vince Tobin, assigned the responsibility of developing the Stars defensive unit, can look to his own playing career as a model for his players to pursue. Tobin was an All-Big 8 defensive back on Missouri teams that enjoyed a heady degree of success.

The 39-year-old native of Burlington, Missouri comes to Philadelphia after a six-year hitch in Canada as defensive coordinator of the British Columbia Lions.

Tobin went to Canada after a nine-year stay at Missouri where he held a number of coaching positions. He served as defensive ends coach on Dan Devine's staff from 1967-70 and later as defensive ends, linebackers, defensive coordinator and secondary coach under Al Onofrio from 1971-76. During his tenure at Mizzou, the Tigers appeared in six bowl games and were constantly in the national rankings.

He has a master's degree in guidance from Missouri and is married with two children. He and his wife Kathy are the parents of Ryan (3) and Shannon (1).

RUNNING BACKS

Jim Skipper

Born 1/23/49, Breaux Bridge, Louisiana
10th Year Coaching
Whittier College

Jim Skipper joins the Stars as their running backs coach after a three-year stint at the University of Oregon where he helped develop the Ducks' young offensive backfield.

The first of Skipper's three major collegiate coaching stops was California Poly-Pomona where he spent three seasons coaching defensive backs and kick return specialists.

A graduate of Whittier College in 1973, he coached defensive backs in 1977 in his first year at San Jose State, then shifted to offensive backs the next season and helped the Spartans gain a share of the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference crown. His next career move was to the University of the Pacific in 1979, where he again coached the running backs. He went to Oregon the following year and worked under the direction of head coach Rich Brooks.

Jim and his wife Elmarie are the parents of Kelly (15), Timothy (4) and Courtney (2).

SPECIAL TEAMS/TIGHT ENDS

Carl Smith

Born 4/26/48, Wasco, California
12th Year Coaching
Cal-Poly San Luis Obispo

Carl Smith performs numerous assignments for Jim Mora, most critical of which are his responsibilities as coach of the special teams and tight ends.

A former assistant at the University of Colorado in 1972 and 1973, Smith worked closely with Mora, at that time a defensive coach with the Buffalos. Smith is a 34-year-old native of Wasco, California who graduated from Cal-Poly San Luis Obispo in 1970. He worked at the University of Southwest Louisiana as defensive backfield coach from 1975-78, during which time the Cajuns finished second in the nation in interceptions and in the top fifteen in every other defensive category. He moved to Lamar University in 1979 and, as offensive coordinator, directed the team to a sixth place finish in the national passing statistics that year. The team also paced the NCAA in yards gained on kickoff returns and set 42 school records. Most recently, he was offensive coordinator at North Carolina State.

Smith and his wife Dianne are the parents of a son, Tracy (1).

Leo Carlin

Business Manager/Ticket Manager

When Carl Peterson assumed his duties as Stars president and general manager, one of his first moves was to appoint Leo Carlin as the club's business and ticket manager.

"I met Leo when I first came to the Eagles and know him to have an extensive knowledge of the professional sports business in general and our market in particular," Peterson said at the time of Carlin's hiring. "He was the perfect man to successfully manage our growth."

Carlin, 44, is a Bala Cynwyd, PA resident, married and the father of seven children. He holds a B.A. degree from St. Joseph's University.

He joined the Philadelphia Eagles organization in 1960 and until 1977 served the team as ticket manager and business manager. He later retained business relationships with the City's sports franchises while operating the John Wanamaker Ticket Agency. As the agency's owner, he was responsible for the Delaware Valley's distribution of 1980 Winter Olympic tickets.

Carlin's wide range of activities include the club's ticket operation and the day-to-day financial affairs of the franchise.

Bill Kuharich

Administrative Assistant to the General Manager/ Linebackers Coach

Bill Kuharich, a name familiar to most Delaware Valley sports fans, had already compiled quite a football background when Carl Peterson selected him for the role of assistant to the general manager. Kuharich is the son of the late Joe Kuharich, head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles from 1964-68.

His duties with the Stars include the evaluation and signing of players, professional and college personnel evaluations, and other duties as assigned by the general manager. He also assists Jim Mora with the teams' linebackers.

A 1976 graduate of Vermont's Middlebury College, Kuharich has held coaching assignments at five different colleges. The 29-year-old Narberth resident previously worked at Brown University, the University of Hawaii, Georgetown University, St. Lawrence University and Columbia University.

Kuharich played four years at Middlebury and then launched a coaching career as a graduate assistant at Brown University in 1976. Subsequent jobs included offensive backfield coach at Hawaii in 1977, assistant backfield coach at Georgetown in 1978, offensive coordinator at St. Lawrence in 1979, and defensive backfield coach and national recruiting coordinator at Columbia in 1980.

Kuharich is single.

Rex Patterson

Equipment Manager

Rex Patterson brings a wealth of experience to his position as the team's equipment manager.

Patterson's involvement in outfitting teams for play goes back to his high school days at St. Francis in Mt. View, California. From there he went on to attend the University of Santa Clara and eventually became the school's head equipment manager upon graduating in 1971. While at Santa Clara, he served as the District 9 director of Athletic Equipment Men of America.

Patterson got his first experience in the pros in 1979 when he joined the NFL's Baltimore Colts as head of equipment. He served in that capacity until the summer of 1982 when he joined the Stars.

His decision to come to Philadelphia was primarily based, he says, on his "admiration for the Stars management."

His responsibilities include the ordering and maintenance of all football equipment. Patterson is married and the father of two children.

David Price

Trainer

The health and conditioning of Stars players are in the capable hands of Dave Price, who moves to the club after two years as assistant trainer with the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles.

A native of nearby Quakertown, PA, David supervises the training program and handles the assorted injuries that occur during every football season.

Price attended Lock Haven State College (PA) where he was a three-year letterman and starting outside linebacker. He earned his B.S. in health and physical education in 1982. THE PLAYOFF PICTURE

TEAMS
The winners of the league's three divisions automatically qualify for the USFL playoffs. The club with the best overall record, other than a division champion, also qualifies.

SITES
The division winner with the best won-lost-tied percentage hosts the wild card team. The division winner with the second best won-lost-tied percentage hosts the division winner with the third best won-lost-tied percentage. However, if the wild card team is from the same division as the division winner with the best won-lost-tied percentage, the wild card team plays at the division winner with the second best won-lost-tied percentage and the division winner with the third best percentage plays at the division winner with the best percentage.

TIES
If two or more clubs finish in a tie for the division championship, the champion is determined by following this step-by-step procedure: (1) head-to-head competition (win percentage in games played between the clubs); (2) best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division; (3) best won-lost-tied percentage in common games; (4) strength of schedule; (5) most points scored minus points allowed in division games; (6) most points scored minus points allowed in all games; (7) most TD's scored minus TD's allowed in all games.

If three or more clubs finish in a tie for the division championship, the champion is determined by: (1) head-to-head competition; (win percentage in games among clubs); (2) best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within division; (3) best won-lost-tied percentage in common games; (4) strength of schedule; (5) most points scored minus points allowed in division games; (6) most points scored minus points allowed in all games; (7) most TD's scored minus TD's allowed in all games; (8) coin toss. If one club is eliminated during any step, tiebreaker reverts to step one of the two-club format.

If two clubs finish in a tie for the final playoff berth, the wild card team is determined by using the division tiebreaker procedure. If the two clubs are from different divisions, the following step-by-step procedure is used: (1) head-to-head competition; (2) best won-lost-tied percentage in common games; (3) strength of schedule; (4) most points scored minus points allowed in all games; (5) most TD's scored minus TD's allowed in all games; (6) coin toss.

USFL COMMISSIONER

The career experience and qualifications that Chet Simmons brings to his new position as Commissioner of the United States Football League could be referred to as "the state of the art."

Chet Simmons

Whereas other leaders of leagues in the various professional sports come from backgrounds in public relations, the law, or actual participation in the sport they administer, Simmons, in an era dominated by television, brings to the USFL a career in sports television that spans four decades.

His background also includes several ventures constructed from the ground up, experience that is immediately applicable to the task of launching the USFL's inaugural campaign.

Prior to accepting the challenge of guiding the USFL, Simmons was president and chief executive office of the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network, Inc. (ESPN), where his ability to build, organize and manage an all-new entity was a prime factor in ESPN's current recognition as the most successful operation of its kind.

From 1977 to 1979, Simmons was president of NBC Sports, a network he had served as a major sports executive since 1964. During that period, his capacity for organizing new enterprises resulted in the network's strong coverage of baseball, basketball and many other sports, as well as professional football.

He was also a major contributor to the development of the successful Sports World show and was highly instrumental in securing the 1980 Summer Olympic Games for the network.

Simmons began his television career in 1957 when he joined Sports Programs, Inc., which soon developed into the ABC-TV unit responsible for that network's sports programming.

The USFL thus becomes the second professional football league with which Simmons has been directly involved. While with ABC-TV, he was deeply responsible for the development of the television package when the American Football League made its debut.

He continued to work with the AFL when he moved to NBC and that association is recognized as having been extremely important to the AFL's survival through its early years and into its eventual merger with the National Football League.

Simmons was born in New York City and raised both in Ossining, N.Y. and Pawtucket, R.I. An alumnus of the University of Alabama, he did his graduate work in radio and television at Boston University. He and his wife, Harriet, have four children and live in Cos Cob, Conn.

The United States Football League has made national television agreements with the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) and the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network, Inc. (ESPN.) Under the terms of a two-year contract, ABC televises a Sunday game of the week, one prime-time evening telecast and covers the league's playoffs and championship game. In all, eighteen games have been scheduled for telecast.

ESPN, the nation's largest all-sports network, covers the USFL live beginning March 6 and running through June on Saturday (8 p.m. EST) and Monday nights in prime time (9 p.m. EST.) Thirty-four games including three double-headers are scheduled for broadcast. ESPN also features a weekly series on the league throughout the spring and early summer.

A STAR PERFORMER

Kelvin Bryant

"There isn't much I can say about him that hasn't already been said. He's one of the greatest players in America."

—University of North Carolina
Head Coach Dick Crumm
when asked about Kelvin Bryant.

Kelvin Bryant owned the real estate from goal line to goal line his last three years at the University of North Carolina. One of the premier collegiate running backs, Bryant is only the third player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to record three 1000 yard seasons.

Despite missing 22 of 44 quarters in 1981 due to a knee injury, Bryant rushed for 1015 yards scoring 18 touchdowns. With tremendous acceleration, Bryant finds holes in the defense, fans think non-existent. In 1981's opening game, he set a new ACC single game record scoring six touchdowns vs Eastern Carolina followed by five vs Miami of Ohio. With four more touchdowns vs Boston College, Bryant was already halfway to the NCAA single season touchdown record set by Lydell Mitchell of Penn State.

Bryant finished his senior year with a career high of 1064 yards on 228 carries, scoring nine touchdowns sending him to both the Hula and Senior Bowls. With a career total of 3267 yards, 38 touchdowns and 228 points, Kelvin Bryant ranks third in University of North Carolina history with a formidable future in Philadelphia.
